

Planting for LT's Tomorrow...
Our Temple is a Tree of Life;
A Covenant Community

How the tree that is Larchmont Temple
Has grown these past 70 years
Sustaining us, sheltering us, nourishing us, inspiring us...

Over 830 households, linked by the Legacy we share...

LT has become a Tree of many branches,
Planting in the soil of sacred diversity
from which we sprang;

Celebrating the dignity of difference that remains our greatest strength

LT has grown to be an intertwining Tree, connecting the generations,
teaching younger learners—
engaging life-long learners, sustaining us member to member in our questions and our climb...

LT has grown to be a Giving Tree, bearing fruit to help us sustain those in need,
compelling us to reach out to help restore our world.

Larchmont Temple's
Legacy Circle

Any member who notifies us that the Temple is included in her or his estate plan will become a member of our Legacy Circle.

Larchmont Temple was organized in 1948 by a group of residents eager to establish a Reform synagogue as well as a religious school for their children.
Our present building was dedicated in 1954.

Larchmont Temple is a covenantal community founded on three principles, Torah (Jewish Study), Avodah (Worship) and Gemilut Chasadim (Acts of Loving kindness).

The easiest and most common legacy gift is a simple bequest. If you are considering a bequest, please share this suggested language with your estate advisor.

“I hereby bequeath to Larchmont Temple, a tax-exempt organization, ID#13-1845456, located at 75 Larchmont Avenue, Larchmont, NY 10538, the sum of _____dollars [or alternatively, _____% of residuary estate;
etc.]

There are different ways that someone can leave a vibrant Jewish legacy by including Larchmont Temple in an estate plan. Two of the simplest approaches are a bequest in your will or trust, and naming the Temple as a beneficiary of a retirement asset such as an IRA (see below). In addition, Larchmont Temple would be happy to discuss individualized approaches to other ways of legacy giving, such as the donation of property or other assets:

Bequest in your will or trust. Designate a specific dollar amount, a percentage of your estate, or a remainder interest, after funds have been distributed to your family.

Retirement asset. Make LT the beneficiary of all or part of a retirement asset, such as an IRA or a 401(K) plan. This is easy to do, without revising your will; and it’s tax-savvy, avoiding deferred income tax.
